Adran 3, tudalen 2, ar ôl llinell 19, mewnosoder –

- ‘() In ensuring transparency and fairness, the regulations must provide that a relevant authority must –
 - (a) treat economic operators equally and without discrimination;
 - (b) act in a transparent and proportionate manner; and
 - (c) ensure that the design of a procurement shall not be made with the intention of artificially narrowing competition.
- () For the purpose of subsection ([yr is-adran gyntaf sy'n cael ei mewnosod gan y gwelliant hwn])(c), competition shall be considered to be artificially narrowed where the design of the procurement is made with the intention of unduly favouring or disadvantaging certain economic operators.
- () For the purposes of subsections ([yr is-adran gyntaf sy'n cael ei mewnosod gan y gwelliant hwn]) and ([yr ail is-adran sy'n cael ei mewnosod gan y gwelliant hwn]), the regulations may set out circumstances in which a relevant authority need not comply, or need only partially comply, with those subsections.
- () In this section, “economic operator” means any person or public entity or group of such persons and entities, including any temporary association of undertakings, which offers the execution of works or a work, the supply of goods or the provision of services on the market.’.

This amendment ensures that relevant authorities must, when ensuring transparency and fairness: (a) treat economic operators equally and without discrimination; (b) act transparently and proportionately; and (c) not artificially narrow competition. It provides flexibility for the regulations, subject to the affirmative scrutiny procedure, to tailor procurement requirements in certain circumstances (for example to specify circumstances in which economic operators may be treated differently).

Mae'r gwelliant hwn yn sicrhau bod rhaid i awdurdodau perthnasol, wrth sicrhau tryloywder a thegwch, wneud y canlynol: (a) trin gweithredwyr economaidd yn gyfartal a heb wahaniaethu; (b) gweithredu'n dryloyw ac yn gymesur; ac (c) peidio â chulhau cystadleuaeth yn artiffisial. - () Regulations made under subsection (1) must provide that a relevant authority must take appropriate measures to effectively prevent, identify and remedy conflicts of interest arising in the conduct of a competitive tendering process or alternative procurement process under the regulations so as to avoid any distortion of competition and to ensure equal treatment of all economic operators.
- () For the purpose of subsection ([first subsection to be inserted by this amendment]), the regulations may set out circumstances in which a relevant authority need not comply, or need only partially comply, with that subsection.
- () For the purposes of this section, the concept of conflicts of interest shall at least cover any situation where relevant staff members have, directly or indirectly, a financial, economic or other personal interest which might be perceived to compromise their impartiality and independence in the context of a competitive tendering process or alternative procurement process under the regulations.
- () In this section –
 - (a) “economic operator” means any person or public entity or group of such persons and entities, including any temporary association of undertakings, which offers the execution of works or a work, the supply of goods or the provision of services on the market;
 - (b) “relevant staff members” means staff members of the relevant authority, or of a procurement service provider acting on behalf of the relevant authority, who are involved in the conduct of a competitive tendering process or alternative procurement process under those regulations or may influence the outcome of that process;
 - (c) “procurement service provider” means a public or private body which offers ancillary purchasing activity on the market.’.

Adran 3, tudalen 2, ar ôl llinell 19, mewnosoder –

- () Regulations made under subsection (1) must provide that a relevant authority must take appropriate measures to effectively prevent, identify and remedy conflicts of interest arising in the conduct of a competitive tendering process or alternative procurement process under the regulations so as to avoid any distortion of competition and to ensure equal treatment of all economic operators.

- () For the purposes of this section, the concept of conflicts of interest shall at least cover any situation where relevant staff members have, directly or indirectly, a financial, economic or other personal interest which might be perceived to compromise their impartiality and independence in the context of a competitive tendering process or alternative procurement process under the regulations.
- () In this section –
 - (a) “economic operator” means any person or public entity or group of such persons and entities, including any temporary association of undertakings, which offers the execution of works or a work, the supply of goods or the provision of services on the market;
 - (b) “relevant staff members” means staff members of the relevant authority, or of a procurement service provider acting on behalf of the relevant authority, who are involved in the conduct of a competitive tendering process or alternative procurement process under those regulations or may influence the outcome of that process;
 - (c) “procurement service provider” means a public or private body which offers ancillary purchasing activity on the market.’.

This amendment provides that relevant authorities must take appropriate measures to prevent, identify and remedy conflicts of interest arising in procurement procedures. It provides flexibility for the regulations, subject to the affirmative scrutiny procedure, to tailor procurement requirements in certain circumstances (for example to introduce caveats or specify circumstances in which economic operators may be treated differently). The amendment also expands on the concept of “conflicts of interest”.
