Dear Sir,

I read with dismay the proposed alteration to the publication of public notices (Council Tax etc) in Clause 20 of the Local Government Finance (Wales) Bill, currently being discussed by the Welsh Government.
(Ref. Western Telegraph issue Wednesday 10th January 2024).

As an octogenarian without a computer I rely on local newspapers for my Pembrokeshire news, as do many of my contemporaries. In the article it states that as many as seven percent of people in Wales do not have access to the internet. Therefore it is imperative that Government retain the status quo & continue to print public notices in local newspapers so that everyone has the relevant information.

Yours faithfully
